REASONS TO RENEW YOUR VASA MEMBERSHIP

More and more people are opting out of memberships of associations and clubs of all kinds.

In many cases, it's a cost saving measure. Others complain they don't have the time.

VASA membership is very different.

We are talking about your business, your livelihood, your credentials as a professional technician and your ability to keep up in an industry which is undergoing rapid change, in electronic technologies, in refrigerants and in AC systems.

So here are 10 good reasons for you to renew your VASA membership.

1. Through newsletters, websites and social media, you will be kept up to date with technologies, new equipment, solutions to problems and future trends.
2. Because leading wholesalers and OEMs are members of VASA, you have access to the best people to help you make decisions or solve problems. VASA membership opens a lot of doors.
3. Being in a network is the best possible way to share information, and this can help your business to grow.
4. The bible of vehicle air conditioning is on the VASA website, in pages which can only be accessed by a password.
5. VASA members have exclusive access to monthly technical papers from MACS Worldwide, our US affiliate and the biggest AC aftermarket organisation in the world.

6. As a member, you are eligible for a once a year A$150 training rebate on a growing number of training workshops run by VASA and our partners.
7. VASA members get substantial discounts at all VASA functions and conventions, including our Wire & Gas convention.
8. VASA members can bring additional technicians and apprentices to the convention at member rates – a huge saving for an event of great training importance.
9. VASA directors keep a watchful eye on government regulation and speak on behalf of members at the highest level.
10. VASA is the only network in Australia and New Zealand representing professional workshops and technicians in the vehicle aftermarket.

When you add up all these benefits, you'll find that VASA membership doesn't cost, it PAYS.

VASA supplies the information and the network...the rest is up to you.

We want you to be profitable and happy in your industry and if we can provide some of the tools to help you achieve those things, the work of the volunteers who keep VASA active and relevant, will be fully justified.
